Many Owe Debt To Blind Institute

Everyone in Canada who wears glasses owes a debt to the CNIB, declared Mr. Fred Stapells, O.B.E., Chairman of the Southern Alberta Board of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

He explained how the CNIB constantly alerts the Canadian public about necessary measures for proper eye-care. This is accomplished through press, radio and television, talks and projects in schools and any other medium of informing the nation on the importance of good vision.

More than 125,000 people a year see the motion picture "Hold Back the Night" he continued. It tells what to do to combat glaucoma—a sight-robbing disease.

The House That Jack 'Spilt'

While workmen mill about the scene wondering just how to solve the dilemma, venetian blinds within the dwelling hung at odd angles and one corner of the house remains imbedded in the creek bank, saving it from possible ruin, as the creek flows beneath it. The accident, which occurred near Moundridge, Kansas, was caused when the rear wheels of the trailer broke through the plank-lank of the bridge.

A Test of Endurance . . .

It has yet to be determined whether free civilization will survive. The Lords of the Kremlin, intent upon world domination, are a literal embodiment of the legendary ovens of Darkness. Building upon hatred, ignorance and prejudice, they avow release from all obligations of honor and decency. And now they hold in bondage 800 million human beings, or one out of three of the population of this planet.

For the rest of the twentieth century an uneasy balance is the best that can be expected. Fortunately the protective measures of the West have advanced far enough to discourage large-scale military aggression. Small-scale "nubbing" wars will continue under the remote control of the Kremlin. Also there will be an increase in the range and intensity of subversive activity within the free world and not least in Canada. This expanding subversive activity should be countered with calm and calculated determination. Panic tactics and "witch hunting" are model "boomerangs."

Success will be assured if these conditions are observed. First, spiritual power and spiritual understanding are fundamental to freedom. The churches are the front-line of our defence. From spiritual power and understanding flows the sense of social responsibility which dignifies citizenship in a free society. With this base, the market-economy system of private enterprise should be encouraged to lift the standard of living and to provide the means to make freedom impregnable.

Salvation Army Appeal For Funds

"Do something about it" was the cry of William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, when he saw shivering, starving men sleeping on the Thames Embankment. And Salvation Army ever since have sought to obey that charge whenever and wherever confronted with human suffering and frustration.

The Salvation Army is a practical organization. It believes it should first serve the person in need, then concern itself with bringing that person into a right relationship with God.

The scope of Salvation Army activity is wide—from pre-natal care to care of the needy aged. Its interest in people is maintained during times of peace as well as in times of war; in periods of prosperity as in days of depression. Its round-the-world, round-the-clock ministry is sympathetically expressed in "the human touch and the understanding heart."

Beyond producing physical and moral rehabilitation, the Salvation Army works for that re-birth of soul effected by the redemptive power of Jesus Christ, which is the real rehabilitation needed by the derelicts of society. There can be no greater task than this, and it is in this realm that the Salvation Army's greatest triumphs have been won. The Army recognizes that "man doth not live by bread alone," and its spiritual and material ministrations go hand in hand.

"Do something about it" is a challenge to all of us when, during the current Red Shield Appeal, The Salvation Army asks for funds to help it continue its necessary ministry. Let us, therefore, quickly and generously, "do something about it".

Through The Study Window

By REV. C. C. ARMSTRONG

The General Council is now well launched, and the commissioners much better acquainted with one another. That means that the original shy silence of the first few days may be followed by bursts of oratory in the assemblies of the faithful. Hurricane Edna has a few rivals hereabouts.

Council, in many ways, is a very familiar sort of thing. The organizer, having let out a preparatory or introductory note on the organ, discovers he has done so at the wrong time, much to his embarrassment. A motion is made and seconded and then discussed at length. By this time the original meaning has been lost in a cloud of words and the vote taken in a haze of misunderstanding.

There are other features that have become familiar to us. These are the physical features of delegates from all over Canada, Bermuda, Trinidad, India and Japan. One of the wittiest, and ablest, speakers is Rev. Dr. Kenneth Yohan-Mash, from India. The principal devotional leader, Dr. Leslie Cooke, is from England — and speaks very good English at that.

This mingling of folk from many regions gives one a new perspective on the work of the church. It is no small privilege and responsibility to be a member of a church that has congregations throughout the nation. The resolutions that we frame, sometimes very awkwardly, really do not matter a lot. What does matter is that the church has within its ranks men and women whose wisdom, faith and character are very influential in this land of ours, to the extent that we have the mind and spirit of Christ our deliberations can be fruitful throughout the whole Dominion of Canada.

I am not going to comment further on church resolutions. You would be much more interested in hearing of the trip, by car, through "The Island" (P.E.I.). Over 500 delegates in 143 cars, in a police-directed convoy over three miles long, streaming along the roads of P.E.I. made the portion of land made famous by "Anne of Green Gables"; ate lobster salad in Charlottetown and visited the original site of the Fathers of Confederation. It was a great day and the hospitality of the Maritimes was magnificent and most generous. Even the weather was co-operative. By a week from today I should be back in Didsbury. The first Sunday in October, immediately after my return, will be observed as "World Wide Communion Sunday."

No Special Session Needed

The big labor organizations have held their annual conventions and have drafted their recommendations to be made to the government for dealing with unemployment.

The cause of the recent increase in unemployment in Canada is that our industries are unable to find buyers for all their products at the prices they are asking. It is nearly a decade since the war ended and we are still holding out for wartime prices for many of our products. We managed to secure such prices for a number of years because the industries of so many other countries had been destroyed during the war; and Canada was one of the few countries where goods could be secured.

But the people of those war-torn countries have not been idle. They have re-established their industries and are no longer wholly dependent on this continent for their needs. They have no foolish notions about maintaining wartime prices; but are willing to sell for what they can get, and to reduce their costs in order to meet the demands of the markets. They are selling where we have been selling; and because we are losing sales we are unable to keep all our workers employed.

To deal with this situation the unions are calling for a special session of parliament. What could parliament do to remedy such a situation?

The unions expect it to launch a huge construction program to include the building of schools, hospitals, roads, power developments and whatever else the authorities can think of to give employment to the idle workers at current union wage.

Let us suppose that all these recommendations were accepted, that all these projects were started and that they actually did furnish jobs for all the unemployed. What would the situation be then?

All the workers laid off by our industries would be put on the government payroll. But this would not lower our costs of production and our industries would still not be able to compete. In fact they would

Vacuum Cleaner Helps Polio Patient

A vacuum cleaner is playing a major role in the treatment of a polio patient at the Alberta Red Cross Crippled Children's hospital. These days, being used twice daily on a small lad who spends part of his time in a tank respirator (iron lung).

The vacuum cleaner fits onto the respirator with an attachment made in the hospital's brace shop, drawing air out of the respirator so that there is an increased negative pressure. Then a nurse opens one of the side vents quickly, allowing air to pour in. The result is that the patient takes much deeper breaths than he can take by himself, or with the iron lung operating normally. It all adds up to an excellent exercise for the boy's lungs and ribs, which have become "rusty" through lack of use.

The patient, who is a 1953 polio, enjoys the 10 "jerks" he receives each morning and afternoon. "It makes me feel good," he says. This simple form of treatment was not devised at the Red Cross hospital, but its adoption has precluded the purchasing of an expensive piece of equipment which would react exactly the same on the patient. His progress is being followed with keen interest and delight by the staff.

The Japanese have a curious custom of taking off their shoes before entering a house. The same custom is observed by some married men all over the world, but only after midnight.

be worse off than before, for they, along with all other taxpayers, would be taxed to pay the wages of all the new government employees.

Our exports would continue to decline and the home market also, for the money being spent on these public works would not be available to buy the thousand and one things that people would buy if their taxes were not so high. So more men would be laid off and more projects would have to be started to give them jobs and we would have a vicious circle of unemployment necessitating more government jobs and higher taxes, and thus causing more unemployment as our industries found their production costs continuing to rise and their sales continuing to decline.

Parliament should never allow itself to be manoeuvred into such a position as that.

A special session of all labor organizations to consider what they could do to reduce production costs and enable our products to be sold would be more appropriate than a special session of parliament.

DISTRICT NEWS

M.V.B.C. NEWS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

President Taylor and family, with several friends from the College and community, went to Edmonton this weekend to help celebrate the birthday of Mrs. Taylor's mother, Mrs. M. A. Finlay. This was a big event, for Mrs. Finlay holds a very important position as matron of Beulah home, and all who know her, know of the great work which she is doing in spite of her advancing years.

A number of friends have been visiting the college to see the re-decorated office, and the advance that has been made on the apartments. Miss Eby's apartment is entirely decorated and she will be moving in this week. The decoration and equipment has been made possible through the gifts of two of her close relatives. Mrs. Suder's apartment is approaching completion. Edward Oke has done a most efficient job in painting, and within a few days this will be accomplished. Mrs. Suder has personally had beautiful cupboards built into her kitchen. Her contribution in equipment meant much to the financing of this project, and the college will have a minimum cost in the arranging of these apartments. You will want to see them when the college announces Open House a little later on.

We regret that Miss Walsh's brother-in-law passed away at the hospital during the weekend. Mr. Havens had his home near Madden. Miss Walsh accompanied her sister to her home until after the funeral. Mrs. Havens stayed with Miss Walsh at the college for some days before the death of her husband. Our sympathy goes out to the bereaved family.

Mr. and Mrs. Lusk and Christine, accompanied by Mr. Widmark, will arrive in Didsbury some time this week. It will be nice to have them in our midst again.

The roof cellar, built and financed by the Alumni Association of the college, is almost completed. Friday and Saturday, Arthur Eby was hauling away the dirt accumulated around the structure, and covered the roof of it, filling in the sides, etc. When the ground around it is seeded again this will hardly be noticeable on the grounds. It is quite spacious and will hold large quantities of vegetables during the winter months. We certainly appreciate the interest of the association in this work. Last year they sponsored the building of a fine deep freeze, which has proved so very valuable to the college thus far.

It may be that the farmers in this community have few vegetables to spare this year. But whatever you have, when the root cellar is finished, do not hesitate to bring it in, for the small amounts will soon add up to valuable assistance to the college. Eggs, pork, chicken, turkey, etc., is always received with much appreciation, so that if you who have given vegetables are unable to do so this year, you perhaps can help in some other way. Thank you again, friends, for the assistance of the past, and if you cannot do as much this year, remember that we have not forgotten the kindness when you had more to give.

SURVIVES FARM ACCIDENT

Although somewhat shaken up, Louis Kramps of Calahoo, feels he is lucky to be alive today. Last week the tractor he was driving overturned into a deep ditch, coming to rest with its four wheels up. Mr. Kramps was fortunate enough to have been thrown clear, but ended up in a sea of mud and water. It is believed he suffered a fainting spell.

EAST NOTES

(From Our Own Correspondent)

The next Lone Pine W.I. meeting will be held at Mrs. Harry Richardson's on Wednesday, October 13th at 8 p.m. There will be a film on health. Everybody is welcome.

The Lone Pine Orioles will hold their annual fall dance at Lone Pine hall on November 12th, with Fisher's orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schumaker and Wavie and Les Schumaker, all of Calgary, were weekend visitors with their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Wagner were Sunday afternoon callers on Mr. and Mrs. Schumaker.

The Lone Pine W.I. will hold a dance at the hall on October 29th.

The Junior girls of the Lone Pine Orioles, and their mothers, met at the home of Mrs. Schumaker on Saturday evening to take lesson in crocheting. Mrs. Pat Sprague and Mrs. Schumaker were in charge. They will meet again next Saturday at the home of Mrs. Brander.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Marsh and Mr. Pete Neufeld motored to Vulcan Saturday morning, returning to their home here on Sunday.

Best wishes are extended to the following people who are patients in hospital: Mrs. Pete Neufeld, in Didsbury hospital and Mrs. Ivan Clendenan (Bernice Schumaker) in Calgary General hospital.

Mr. George Long called on Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eckel last Sunday. Heather Marsh spent Tuesday evening with Annie McCulloch.

SIMPLE THINGS

The simple things of life are best. A modest home where one can rest. The invitation from a friend. To come at even-fall and spend. A pleasant hour, in deep arm chair. Forgetful of the day's dull care. A cheerful fire burning bright. That lifts the shadows of the night.

A simple book to travel through. And live our childhood days anew. A tree, beneath whose spreading shade.

The head in summertime is laid. The brook that murmurs at our feet. Each helps to make our life complete.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The infinite allness of God, good, and the consequent unreality of sickness and discord will be stressed at Christian Science services Sunday. Readings from the King James Version of the Bible and correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, comprise the Lesson, Sermon, entitled "UNREALITY". That real dominion and power are derived from God is brought out in the Scriptural passages to be read, including the following statement by Paul (11 Timothy 1:7): "For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind." From Science and Health the following selections will be among those read (4:14-21-23): "The Scripture declares, 'The Lord He is God (good); there is none else beside Him'. Even so, harmony is universal, and discord is unreal." The Golden Text is from Matthew (7:18-19): "A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit. Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire."

WALTHER LEAGUE SOCIETIES HOLD CONFERENCE

A conference of society officers of the Walther League societies in the Alberta-British Columbia district was held on Sunday, Sept. 26 at Red Deer Lutheran Church, Didsbury. Representatives from Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, Pincher Creek, Calgary, Wetaskiwin, Edmonton and Didsbury were in attendance, with a registration of 61.

Rev. E. B. Fox opened the sessions with a devotion, whereupon the district president, Erhard Reinhardt, welcomed the leaguers. Rev. Fox briefly stressed the necessity of Bible study as one of the main objectives of each society and each individual leaguer. Rev. A. Miller of Calgary, representative of the youth committee of the Lutheran Church, spoke upon the position of young people in the church and the work of the church.

The entire group was then divided into four sections for meetings. The presidents met with Erhard Reinhardt for a discussion of matters vital to the interest of their office. The secretaries met with Mrs. Evelyn Meggen of Calgary to discuss problems prevalent to this office. The treasurers met with Eric Kemle of Calgary to discuss finances, and the Wheat Ridge Seal representatives met with Art Zimmerman to see how they could best foster this important phase of youth work.

Following a brief recess, Rev. W. Wangerlin, newly elected president of Concordia College, Edmonton, spoke on the program and work of the league. During an open forum, various items of mutual concern to the league were discussed. Rev. Bruer, membership secretary of the league, spoke on the subject, "Promoting the Local Walther League."

um), is almost completely eliminated today through the use of prophylactic drops at birth—a CNIB advocated measure. Mr. Stapells said.

He told how CNIB public health nurses initiate vision-screening projects in school areas where there are health units. In many classrooms, nurses follow up the eye cases, report to the Institute and the CNIB provides the glasses, where parents cannot afford the fee.

In Canada CNIB has a registry of 48,220 prevention cases, Mr. Stapells said. Through these avenues, CNIB is actually building up the health of Canada, making school-room work easier for children, prolonging vision, and even saving from the handicap of blindness, cases too numerous to count. It is all a part of the reason why Canadians who wear glasses owe CNIB a debt of gratitude.

The financial campaign is under way from October 1st to 31st in all districts of southern Alberta excluding Community Chest centres. CNIB participates in all Community Chest activities in the district.

Give as much as you can when the canvasser calls, or mail your contribution to The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, 408-16th Ave. N.W., Calgary.

Your gift will continue the work of blindness prevention and at the same time maintain the constructive service program for those whose vision has been irreparably swept away forever.
